Welcome to the 25th Annual Seattle Queer Film Festival!

I am so pleased to welcome you all to the 25th annual Seattle Queer Film Festival. I hope you are healthy and hanging in there while we enjoy some beautiful and provocative films together. This year's virtual festival has everything from Truman Capote to secret lesbian life behind the Berlin Wall. From serial killers to music and dance, we're packing a lot in our 11-day lineup—just when we need a diversion! I hope you share the feeling of community that we did while we were screening and curating these special programs from the hundreds of submissions we received. Thank you for your continued support and for joining us. See you (virtually) at the movies!

Clay Warner

President and Chairman of the Board
 Three Dollar Bill Cinema

Twenty-five years of queer film and visibility is a significant and exciting milestone for Three Dollar Bill Cinema. We are thrilled to be able to present 44 programs this year: feature films, documentaries, shorts, panels, workshops, and livestreamed Q&As. For the staff and board of directors, it was integral to find a way to take the festival online and ensure that our community could come together virtually, celebrate our silver anniversary, and view some entertaining and enlightening films.

Our expanded geographic footprint, including all of Washington, Oregon, and Idaho, allows us to reach smaller, rural communities that might not otherwise have access to independent queer cinema and the film festival experience.

We had an amazing group of collaborators this year. It was paramount for the programming team to center stories by, for, and about those in the queer community often relegated to the margins of the screen. These include a series of films and programs collectively titled MANY RIVERS TO CROSS: DIASPORA STORIES, curated by a newly formed QTBIPOC Committee led by Cooper Sealy, and our youth program THE KIDS ARE ALRIGHT, showcasing the three films that were made as part of our Reel Queer Youth program this summer.

It's been hard work to put on the festival this year, but we have persevered in order to present our many stories. I want to thank the founders of this organization and the scores of people who have brought our mission to life year after year. And we all thank you for your support — WE ARE QUEER FOR YOU!

BREAKING FAST

Mo (Haaz Sleiman, THE VISITOR, Nurse Jackie), a practicing Muslim living in West Hollywood, has just endured a painful breakup, so he decides to be especially observant during Ramadan this year—and this includes no romantic encounters. Enter Kal (Michael Cassidy), a handsome, charming all-American who surprises Mo by offering to break the daily fast with him. As the monthlong holiday progresses, their nightly ritual feeds a growing bond between them across the cultural divide. But is it just friendship, or something more?

While the usual conflict besetting a gay Muslim man is with his family, in this entertaining, award-winning rom-com, Mo's family is supportive—his issues are really with himself: recovering from hurt and opening his heart again. This story about navigating human connection within your framework of beliefs is familiar, but there is nothing stereotypical about this tender, heartfelt narrative or its characters, grounded in ritual, tradition, food, and family love. Sumptuously shot and featuring a memorable soundtrack, delectable food, and a strong cast (Amin El Gamal is a standout as the hilarious best friend), this crowd-pleaser is sure to satisfy your appetite for romance.

AHEAD OF THE CURVE

With a fistful of credit cards, a lucky run at the horse track, and chutzpah for days, Franco Stevens launched Curve, the best-selling lesbian magazine. Groundbreaking from its start in 1990, it was a visionary celebration of lesbian life.

Stevens and director Jen Rainin explore lesbian visibility, community, legacy, and the need to evolve, through the use of archival footage and interviews with LGBTQ+ leaders, artists, and “celebrities,” including Melissa Etheridge, Jewelle Gomez, Denise Frohman, Kate Kendell, and Lea DeLaria. Winner of the Audience Award for Best Documentary at aGLIFF 2020.

GOSSAMER FOLDS

In the summer of 1986, Frannie and Billy (Shane West, Gotham, and Sprague Grayden, A Million Little Things) uproot their urban family and move to the suburbs of Kansas City. When their marriage breaks down and tension builds at home, ten-year-old Tate (IT star Jackson Robert Scott) escapes next door. There, he finds solace in his neighbors: a retired college professor and his daughter, Gossamer (transgender actress Alexandra Grey, Empire, Transparent, The Alienist: Angel of Darkness), a seamstress who designs costumes for club performers in the city in hopes of escaping to New York to become a fashion designer. The warmth of their budding friendship begins to offset the struggles each is facing.

Featuring a guest appearance by co-producer Yeardley Smith (the voice of Lisa Simpson on The Simpsons) and an original song written and performed by Sarah McLachlan, this compelling drama, directed by Lisa Donato (FOXY TROT, SQFF 2018), is a heartwarming tribute to the power of friendship, rich with multilayered characters.

VITO – Free 25th Anniversary Special Presentation

Few films connect to the impetus and ideals that encapsulate Three Dollar Bill Cinema's 25 years more than VITO.

As a young film student, Vito Russo was present at the Stonewall riots, after which he would become one of the most outspoken and inspiring activists for LGBTQ equal rights. He was a pivotal member of three well-known organizations during their formative years: the Gay Activists Alliance, the Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation, and ACT UP. As director Jeffrey Schwarz recalls, "Vito participated in every significant milestone in the gay liberation movement—and...his story was also the story of our community." He continued writing, lecturing, speaking out, and acting up until just before his death from AIDS in 1990.

Russo is most known for writing The Celluloid Closet, a groundbreaking book that explored the ways in which gays and lesbians were portrayed on film, and how these negative images were at the root of society's homophobia. As an assistant editor on the film version of that book, Schwarz discovered the depth of his future documentary subject. "I learned about the years Vito spent battling AIDS as both a person with the disease and a passionate and angry agent for change. Although he didn't live long enough to see much of the progress he had been hoping for, his work forever changed the landscape for those living with the disease."

This award-winning documentary includes rare archival footage of Vito at gay rallies and celebrations, stories from family and celebrities, and clips from a variety of LGBTQ films. A live conversation with director Jeffrey Schwarz, moderated by former TDBC director Jason Plourde, will be held following the film on Friday, October 16, at 6:00pm.

MANY RIVERS TO CROSS: DIASPORA STORIES

In honor of SQFF's 25th year, we are centering voices still at the margins of the screen. QTBIPOC community members and allies gathered virtually to assemble an amazing array of films from America and across the world. From our feature film, FORGOTTEN ROADS, in which a middle-aged Chilean woman who thought she'd never find love rediscovers herself, to ALICE JÚNIOR, in which a young trans woman navigates transphobia, love, and the deeper meaning of community, these human stories will engage audiences with humor, resistance, and tenderness. This year we are also offering a live event in collaboration with Lesbian Love Lab: The Dating Game will hilariously explore love in the time of COVID. Enjoy the shows!

Curated by Cooper T. Sealy and QTBIPOC committee

FORGOTTEN ROADS

"The Way We (Move)": It must be the way we move forward with our hearts, knowing that the drama, arguments, doubts, hand-holding, and kisses of truth are the reasons. These films all show how the heart speaks.

What happens when many lives converge at the crossroads of past and future? This film explores the plausibility of course-correcting destiny and the intricacies of being an out lesbian, mother, grandmother, and matriarch in a town where no one wants you.

ALICE JÚNIOR

This coming-of-age romantic comedy focuses on trans resilience, chosen family, and unapologetic truths. Longtime YouTube star and blogger Anna Celestino Mota is a perfect fit in the title role. In Brazil's ultraconservative political context, Baroni and Mota's collaboration is a powerful act of resistance.

PREFILM CONVERSATION & POETRY READING

In this prefilm conversation with local QTBIPOC artists and hosts Naa Akua and Anastacia-Reneé Tolbert, we will explore QTBIPOC identity and coming of age in the 2020s.

In the contemporary social media climate, what does it mean to be out, to be queer, to be a young person of color, to be an activist? The dialogue will also be accompanied by poetry and performances.

THE CAPOTE TAPES

Dive deeper into the life and psyche of Truman Capote, whose immortal influence in pop culture as a great American author still resonates. Both living unapologetically and surrounding himself in mystery, Capote navigated elite social circles during his controversial writing career.

This fascinating character portrait unveils new information through a series of interwoven, previously unseen interviews with intimate friends and family, as well as Capote's public television appearances, and delves into his unfinished manuscript for Answered Prayers. Director Ebs Burnough proves that there's still plenty to uncover from the unusual life of Truman Capote, whether critical or commendable.

CICADA

CICADA is a stirring portrait of bisexual Ben (co-director Matthew Fifer in a fearless performance), who jumps from one meaningless and sometimes anonymous sexual encounter to another until he decides to confront his demons.

When Sam (co-writer Sheldon D. Brown), a closeted gay man who is also haunted by past trauma, meets Ben, the Sandusky sexual abuse trial looming in the background triggers a rich, nuanced journey into psychological depths and cultural divides. Fifer and Brown's script is honest and tender, making CICADA possibly one of the best indies of the year.

COCOON (Kokon)

Nora, a shy 14-year-old girl from Berlin, will never forget this record-hot summer. Like a caterpillar, she emerges from her cocoon to become a confident and strong butterfly, ready to spread her wings and fly into adulthood.

Director Leonie Krippendorff captures Nora's journey as she falls in love with another girl, learns to stand up for herself, and discovers the hardships of first love. Fueled by a dazzling soundtrack, COCOON is an intimate and insightful coming-of-age story, reminiscent of those idyllic and lasting summers of change.

CURED

This powerful new documentary by Bennett Singer (BROTHER OUTSIDER: THE LIFE OF BAYARD RUSTIN) and Patrick Sammon from Seattle illuminates a pivotal yet largely unknown chapter in the struggle for LGBT equality: the 1973 David-and-Goliath battle to get the American Psychiatric Association to remove homosexuality from its list of mental illnesses. As long as lesbians and gay men were officially "sick," progress toward equality was nearly impossible.

Incorporating a trove of newly unearthed archival material, CURED reveals the strategy and tactics used by a diverse group of crusaders that led to this crucial victory in the movement for LGBT rights.

DEATH DROP GORGEOUS

At a gay club in Providence, two roommates are looking for hookups. Unbeknownst to them, a serial killer is on the loose, catching prey through the app Poundr. A runaway hit at Boston's Wicked Queer, this macabre drag slasher features a gloryhole meat grinder, high heels as far as you can see, and an ensemble of characters, including club owner Tony Two Fingers (co-director Brandon Perras-Sanchez) and the washed-up Gloria Hole (Payton St. James).

If you love B movies, '80s slashers, and wildly snarky drag queens, then this campy whodunit is the wild ride for you.

THE DILEMMA OF DESIRE

This empowering, gleefully eye-opening documentary sets out to explore what it means for women to find their voice and the courage to own their sexuality. Peabody-winning director Maria Finitzo follows four outspoken and compelling characters—conceptual artist Sophia Wallace, neuroscientist Dr. Stacey Dutton, psychologist Dr. Lisa Diamond, and industrial designer Ti Chang—who are shattering the myths and lies women have been taught about their desire and bodies and changing our culture's “cliteracy.”

THE DILEMMA OF DESIRE vibrantly covers the gamut of science, education, art, activism, sex work, comedy, queerness, and the clash between gender politics and the imperatives of female sexual desire.

DISRUPTOR CONDUCTOR

Hearing Beethoven's Ninth Symphony for the first time changed Daniel Bartholomew-Poyser's life forever, and in this inspiring documentary, we see him—the first openly gay Black conductor in Canada and a regular conductor with the San Francisco and Vancouver symphonies—using his passion to bring live classical music to people identifying as “different,” like he does. Having struggled with his own sexuality, Bartholomew-Poyser believes music can help unite and uplift everyone beyond race, class, and gender.

This unorthodox film chronicles his concerts in a women's prison and teaming up with Thorgy Thor (from RuPaul's Drag Race and also a classically trained violinist) to create the first orchestral drag show in Canada.

ELLIE & ABBIE (AND ELLIE'S DEAD AUNT)

Studious high school student Ellie (Sophie Hawkshaw) has fallen for rebellious Abbie (Zoe Terakes) and plans to ask her to the formal dance. The very public proposal to her crush is all laid out in her mind when unsolicited assistance appears in the form of her dead aunt Tara, who declares herself Ellie's “fairy godmother” and proceeds to share dating tips based on her experiences as a lesbian in the 1980s. Ellie gets more than she bargained for from this opinionated ghost, but as much as she wants to ignore the advice, she finds that some of the suggestions are actually useful (others not so much!). Director Monica Zanetti cast the film with a number of queer performers, which makes for an enjoyable, authentic, and very funny teen lesbian rom-com.

EQUAL: EPISODE 1&3

The Seattle Queer Film Festival is proud to present this sneak preview of 2-episodes of a 4-part documentary series (soon airing on HBO Max) on the LGBTQ+ activist pioneers who helped change the course of American history, by director Stephen Kijak (SID & JUDY, SQFF 2019). Viewers will meet a wide range of LGBTQ+ visionaries portrayed by the cast, many of whom identify as members of the LGBTQ+ community.

Episode 1 explores the rise of early organizations, The Mattachine Society and the Daughters of Bilitis in Los Angeles and San Francisco, respectively. Real life figures are portrayed by award-winning actors; Dale Jennings (Cheyenne Jackson), Harry Hay (Anthony Rapp), Del Martin & Phyllis Lyon (Shannon Purser & Heather Matarazzo), and primetime J.M. from Cleveland (Sara Gilbert, Roseanne).

Using archival images and dramatizations, episode 3 focuses on the American civil rights movement and features the true stories of Lorraine Hansberry (Samira Wiley, The Handmaid's Tale), who wrote the groundbreaking play A Raisin in the Sun; Bayard Rustin (Keiynan Lonsdale, LOVE, SIMON); and José Sarria (Jai Rodriguez, Queer Eye for the Straight Guy), who performed comic operas in drag at the Black Cat.

THE GODDESS OF FORTUNE (La dea fortuna)

On a beautiful Roman terrace, Arturo and Alessandro (Stefano Accorsi and Edoardo Leo), a handsome, fortysomething, long-term gay couple, are celebrating their marriage but clearly in crisis. Suddenly, Alessandro's best friend and ex-lover Annamaria (Jasmine Trinca) bursts in, suitcases and children in tow. She won't be staying long (she's due to be hospitalized on account of suspicious headaches), but her two young children are there for the long haul, whether the men like it or not. The couple now find themselves faced with a level of responsibility that eclipses their problems, as it opens them to the world of extended families and love in all its forms.

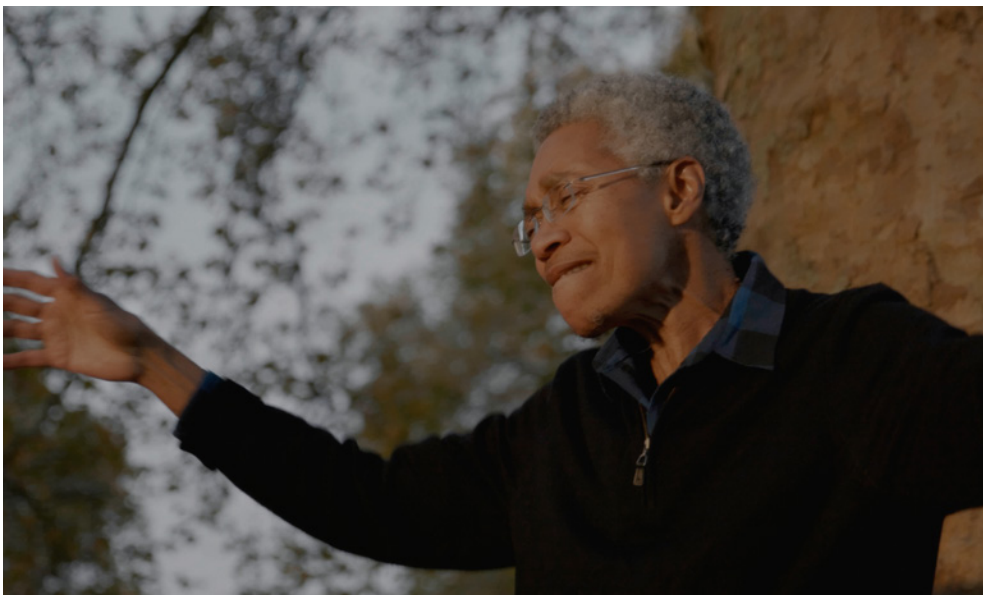

Directed by festival favorite Ferzan Özpetek (STEAM, SLGFF 1998; IGNORANT FAIRIES), this award-winning feature is sure to be the next to delight.

KEYBOARD FANTASIES: THE BEVERLY GLENN-COPELAND STORY

The music of Beverly Glenn-Copeland was always ahead of its time. That's why it comes as no surprise that it took more than three decades for his 1986 album, a collection of soul-searching and ethereal electronic melodies, to find the success and recognition it deserved. This emotional and inspiring documentary follows the unexpected journey of the 74-year-old Black trans musician as he embarks on tour around the world to connect with his audience and rediscover the purpose of his life and his career. LOLA (Lola vers la mer)

Eighteen-year-old Lola, a transgender college student, is relieved that she's finally getting surgery. Unfortunately, her mother, who supports her financially, has died. When her estranged father—who has already misled her about the funeral—announces that he's taking the ashes to scatter them in her final resting place, Lola reluctantly decides to travel with him

This award-winning road-trip film tinged with family drama is about second chances and making peace with our traumatic pasts. OUR DANCE OF REVOLUTION

This untold history of Toronto's Black queer community spans four decades of passionate activist rebellion. Refusing to be silenced and raging with love, the trailblazers featured in this documentary demanded a city where all can live their truths free from the threat of violence. Each bit of revolutionary ground was gained collaboratively, whether protesting police brutality, forming feminist collectives, or making room for grief and healing in the wake of the HIV/AIDS pandemic. Their transformative creativity and visionary organizing made Toronto more livable for generations to follow. OUR DANCE OF REVOLUTION celebrates the living legends among us by unearthing what has been made invisible.

"The Braided Cord Is Always Stronger": After the scheduled screening of OUR DANCE OF REVOLUTION, director Phillip Pike and host Cooper T. Sealy will join activists and artists Rodney Diverlus, David Lewis-Peart, Berette Macaulay, and Kin Folkz to discuss the film, the movement, and where we are now as Black queer activists.

THE STRONG ONES (Los fuertes)

Winner of the Grand Jury Prize for International Narrative Feature at the 2020 Outfest, this sensual drama follows Lucas (Samuel González), an artist from Santiago who travels to a small fishing village in southern Chile to visit his sister Catalina (Marcela Salinas). There he meets Antonio (Antonio Altamirano), a handsome local who works as a boatswain and performs in historical war reenactments beneath the windswept ruins of colonial-era fortifications.

As their relationship develops amid the breathtaking landscape of Chile's rugged coastline, inner desires begin to clash with outer expectations of masculinity and hardscrabble living. The men know they're both at different points in their lives: Lucas, who comes from a family with money, is moving to Canada to study architecture; Antonio must work for everything he has and is content to stay right where he is. Still, they can't keep their hands off each other and are eager to spend every minute together.

Fans of GOD'S OWN COUNTRY and WEEKEND will fall in love with this emotional and erotic exploration of male sexuality, wanderlust, and the possibilities and uncertainties that come with an immediate and intense romantic connection.

SURVIVING THE SILENCE: THE UNTOLD STORY OF TWO WOMEN IN LOVE WHO HELPED CHANGE MILITARY POLICY

Years before "Don't Ask, Don't Tell," Col. Patsy Thompson was forced to expel US Army hero Colonel Margarethe Cammermeyer for being a lesbian. What no one knew was that Thompson was as well. The way Thompson handled the military trial, however, led to Cammermeyer's reinstatement via federal court and an eventual change in military policy. While Cammermeyer's memoir was adapted as a 1995 television movie by Barbra Streisand, Thompson's story remained a secret...until now. In addition to revealing history, SURVIVING THE SILENCE explores Thompson's life with now-wife Barbara Brass. They candidly share how they wrestled with heart-wrenching choices in public and in private—hiding their relationship and struggling to protect their love while preserving Patsy's career—and how they emerged to become vibrant activists later in life.

UFERFRAUEN: LESBIAN LIFE AND LOVE IN THE GDR

Six lesbians who created a private world for themselves despite state repression speak out about life behind the Wall in the GDR (former East Germany). Through intimate romances and lives as mothers and workers, these women, from both rural and metropolitan areas, found a way to exist.

The captivating and sometimes outrageous stories of their upbringing and everyday lives, intertwined with portrayals of the role of women in this communist state, illustrate their struggles to stay true to themselves within society's (private) margins, always in the quest for personal happiness and strength despite the pressures of conformity.

WALK MANY WORLDS

Curated by Cooper T. Sealy and the QTBIPOC committee
This series of short films focus on women making critical decisions or holding firm to the paths they have chosen. With hilarity and sensitivity, fierceness and vulnerability, they serve as witnesses to the most central moments of our lives. Do we meet violence with violence? Do we let "them" win? How do we find paths to a stronger self?

2 DOLLARS Robin Cloud; 2019; USA; 15 min.

As a Black, queer, masculine-of-center artist, Syd deals with daily slights from ignorant co-workers, an oblivious boss, and a killer workload, but when her lucky chance for change comes along, will she find what it takes to walk away?

DOWN DOG Shae Xu; 2020; USA; 9 min.

Tammy is an independent, trans-identified yoga instructor. Will her new boyfriend support her independence when he suddenly shows up in her class one day?

WE NEED TO TALK ABOUT THE RING Yi-Chi Chen; 2020; Taiwan; 30 min.; in Mandarin with English subtitles

Against the backdrop of Taiwan's new marriage equality law, Xin risks both love and family as she owns up to her desire to marry the love of her life.

BREAKWATER (Quebramar) Cris Lyra; 2019; Brazil; 25 min.; in Portuguese with English subtitles

Through song and dance, lyrics, and images, when a group of young lesbians travel to a remote beach for New Year's, they follow a gorgeous path to healing and recovery from the trauma of protesting against Brazil's ultraconservative government.

GANG 888 Banzi Mavuso; 2020; South Africa; 8 min.; in English, Xhosa, and Zulu with English subtitles

At the end of their tether, five Black lesbians walk a dangerous road of revenge and retribution against toxic masculinity.

TENDER Felicia Pride; 2019; USA; 15 min.

The morning after the night before can be sexy, awkward, fun, and unpredictable. This beautifully shot romance is a meandering dance between two women in very different places in their lives.

How to be an Effective Ally Workshop October 21, 6:00 PM

Have you witnessed someone being discriminated against, treated with total disrespect, or blatantly ignored? Do you feel overwhelmed or guilty about not knowing how to help? In this powerful workshop, you will learn techniques and gain the tools needed to become an effective ally to and advocate for those who are targeted because of their race or anyone being treated unfairly or discriminated against, through interactive exercises and discussion. Be sure to bring a notebook!

Anastacia-Reneé, who will lead the Zoom workshop, is an award-winning, multigenre writer, educator, and interdisciplinary artist. She served as the Seattle Civic Poet from 2017 to 2019 and the 2015–17 poet-in-residence at Hugo House. The author of five books, she also teaches poetry and workshops at Hugo House and local libraries, high schools, and universities.

Love in the Time of COVID: Live Event and Shorts October 17, 3:00 PM

Online dating—ugh! Some hate it; others find it easy. Either way, it's unavoidable. Almost anyone who has been single in the last twenty years has been on some sort of dating app. Ooh, who's this? Swipe right! Is she "the one"? Or is she right for now? This special live event begins with a hilarious short GOT GAME (Fatimah Ashgar) that reminds us of how we used to date face to face, followed by a clip of an online Black lesbian dating game (aptly called The Dating Game). Before we watch a live version of it, we'll also chat with game host Djujana Sharese and creator Zamara Perri of Black Lesbian Love Lab. Watch live as the questions get spicy and we turn up the heat on new ways of finding love.
